PHILOSOPHY OF CARE

DR. LIEBERMAN'S PHILOSOPHY OF CARE, IN HIS OWN WORDS

In my over 40 years practice of pediatric nephrology, I have found what children with complex kidney disease and their families need, above all, is empathic medical care. This includes always answering all their questions as well as listening to and addressing their individual needs. Respect for the patient is my core value. This is what patient-centered care means to me.

Providing my patients with state-of-the-art kidney care includes both cutting-edge diagnostics and therapeutics. I strongly believe that a physician should constantly be at the forefront of knowledge in his field in order to deliver the best patient care. This includes producing scholarly works, participating in cutting-edge clinical trials, as well as attending and participating in national and international symposia. Teaching at all levels of medical education is a necessity. Under my leadership, the nephrology division has been able to participate in clinical trials with unique and effective therapies—available at few other medical centers.
